

An old barn on the property was removed, before (above) and after (left).

The existing culvert (left) was removed and a rocked ford was installed (below).

Above, Project Manager Hallie Richard (second from right) meets with biologists Katie Drexhage (left), Cindy Cleveland and Susan Christopher.

Coastal San Luis RCD Project Manager Grant Johnson (above left) and Aine Javier work on the restoration.

Hallie Richard (above right) meets with contractor Pat Molinar, who is pictured with his crew below.

Downstream levee clearing, before (top) and after from a drone's perspective (above).

Thank you to California Conservation Corps members (left), who have helped with this and other large CSLRCD projects throughout the years.